

The Future of Community & Hobbies

Alex, Rene, Lawrence, Zantro

Introduction

Justin Case

20 years old

- Los Angeles, CA, U.S.
- College Student
- Introverted, friendly, organized
- Step out of his comfort zone and meet people with similar vibes
- Explore different hobbies
- Would rather talk online than in person
- Difficulties finding locals with the same hobbies

The Research Pt.1

DISCOVERY

46.2% of people are grown attach to Gaming (Tabletops/Video games) as their hobby.

While 38.5 of people are contributed to physicals sports or fitness

Arts & Craft being the lowest, comprised to 7.7%

The average hours spent on these hobbies consists at least 3-5/6-10 hours

People find their related hobbies by group or events through 61.5% of Social Media

COMMITMENT

46.2% of people unfortunately cannot meet at periods due to time constraint

38% of people have found the group online, but not go In-person

While 61% of numerous people have not find their group relating to their hobby

People who choose not go In-Person, is because of losing interest at the last minute.

Others prefer online contact

- The Hobby Match: Justin is looking for a new vibe, and he's likely to find it in Gaming (46%) or Sports (38.5%), which are the biggest groups we found.
- The Social Media Loop: 61% of our users uses Discord and Instagram to find groups, or structuring their own community
- The Setback Moment: Justin is part of the 38% who find a cool group online but never actually show up to the meet-up.
- The Last-Minute: Just like 46% of the people we surveyed, Justin often "loses interest" at the very last second because he's overthinking it.

The Research Pt.2

- What Justin Says: Like many students, Justin says he really wants to "step out of his comfort zone," but he feels way too "intimidated" to actually meet strangers
- What Justin Does: He spends his time on Discord and Instagram because he'd "rather talk online than in person," which is why he's part of the 38% who find groups but never show up.
- What Justin Thinks: He's constantly overthinking the small stuff, like "Is it worth the drive?" or "Where will I even park?" which makes him lose interest at the last minute.
- What Justin Feels: He switches between being "excited" to find a new hobby and feeling "nervous or stressed" that he isn't "good enough" to join the group yet.
- What Justin Needs: He's looking for a "vibe match" or a "buddy" so he doesn't have to face the "Arrival Anxiety" of walking into a room alone.

THE "VIBE"

At least 84% of people would have difficulties by not knowing the right "Vibe"

Important to meet for same hobbies. Have a connection.

People would feel motivated & excited when meeting right group for your hobby

15% of people would feel intimidated to meeting new strangers

23% of people would feel denial, thus feeling "Not good enough" for a hobby

There are people who wishes not to be part of any group at all

SOCIAL ANXIETY & GATEKEEPING

The Plot Twist

TRUST & SAFETY SIGNAL

At least 46% of people would like be with others at the same status, such as a "New Beginner"

Relied on trusted credibility or verified people

Making something clear & simple understanding

People living close by

Meeting someone they already know or friends with

SOLUTION

53% of people would like someone to match their "Vibe Check"

23% of people would someone to match their skills or at the same level

15% of people wants a "Buddy System"

- What we thought: We first thought Justin couldn't find friends because there weren't enough websites or apps to show him what was nearby.
- The Reality: Finding the group isn't Justin's problem—he can find them on social media just fine, like 61% of our users
- Uncovered: The actual reason Justin stays home is the "Vibe." 84% of people feel exactly like him—they're scared they won't fit in .
- The Big Fail: Justin is also part of the 23% who feel like they "aren't good enough" at a hobby to join a group yet.
- Our Pivot: We realized Justin doesn't need a better search bar; he needs a way to feel brave enough to walk through the door

The Journey

Journey Map

The Journey

Recognition

Performs hobby alone

Notices isolation

Exploring

Opens the app

Scrolls down

Use keywords for a specific search

Select
location

Evaluating

Checks activity

Hobbies in common

Checks past event photos

Reach out?

Participating

Attends the meeting

Perform the hobby together

Plan future meetings if necessary

Engaging

Requests to join group

Schedule
meeting

Exchange information online

The Solution

C.O.R.E Concept

A platform that connects Justin through shared hobbies, matching them based on vibe, skill level, and comfort.

- Vibe Matching System

Matches users based on personality, interests, and social comfort level

The Solution

- Group Preview

Allows Justin to see activity, photos, and group vibe before joining

- Beginner Friendly Tags

Helps new users feel welcomed and reduces intimidation

- Buddy System

Lets Justin attend events with someone to reduce anxiety

- Verified Users

Builds trust and safety when meeting new people

- Online to In-Person Transition

Start with chatting online before meeting face to face

The Prototype

The Impact

The Impact

- Justin no longer overthinks as much because he can explore groups, people, and events ahead of time
- He feels more comfortable knowing he'll be around people with similar interests and vibes
- He starts to trust the experience by seeing real profiles and active communities
- He can ease into interactions through messaging instead of jumping straight into meeting
- He feels less pressure and more in control of how he engages
- And instead of backing out last minute, Justin actually shows up